Martha Violante is having a '60s flashback.

THE LOOK: "My inspiration was flight attendant meets suburban housewife. The hat looked so retro to me, and paired with the matching light-blue jacket and bag recalled a '60s-esque airline stewardess. I am very into weird color combinations right now, and I thought that blue and orange were a good, strong, autumnal mix."

THE GIRL: Model Jordyn Grae (who just turned 19 on 9/9 at 9 p.m.) was scouted on one very fateful day in Portland when she was 12 years old. "I was doing school shopping at a mall, and a Mode model-scout approached me. Then, on that same day we went to another mall, and someone from Pulse Management scouted me." Grae made her "big-time" debut at this past Fashion Week in the Theyskens' Theory show.
